

Acting Ruthless

A baboon forces a smile through a hungry throat when he helped his offspring crossing safely a road, A horse pushes its kid to stand on the two legs of his own coz of course if he won't, he'll never understand the strength in his own bones. Even a penguin resembles the importance of our physical temples. They protect their kids with all their might.. Against crocks lizards or hawks that take flight, against jaws that wanna bite. Against natural disasters, coz they wouldn't wanna be the cause when they stare with remorse over their kids' carcass. The simplest of animals make concepts like protection understandable.. They watch over their babes like diamonds or emeralds. Let Silence!!! be the general that teach you not to be a cannibal, but learn from the animals make this lesson memorable and try to be your child's sentinel.

If God saw the flaws in your parenting style and still saw it fit to give you a child then it must mean you're cut out to do this but if you drink when you're pregnant you're acting ruthless
